NEWS FROM THE PRESIDENT

First of all I like to welcome all the newly elected WFPICCS Board of Directors and also welcome our new members.

Niranjan (Tex) Kissoon,

HOT NEWS

Pediatric Critical Care Medicine

We are pleased to report that our impact factor from the journal citation reports published annually by Thompson Reuters just came out and is 2.672 (up from 2.376)! The ranking of PCCM improved from 18th to 14th out of the 107 pediatric journals and from 12th to 9th out of the 23 critical care-related journals. It is also noteworthy that over 82% of the citations of PCCM were generated in other journals indicating that PCCM is being read and cited broadly.

Our immediacy index, 1.272 (up from 0.800), is remarkably high and ranked an incredible 3rd out of all pediatric journals and 6th out of all critical care-related journals. This, in part, reflects the outstanding editorials that are written about our articles and the substantial dialogue that they generate specifically as letters to the editor. This excellent news obviously reflects the quality of the manuscripts that we are receiving, the hard work of our editorial board, ad hoc reviewers, and staff along with the outstanding reputation that the journal has achieved in our field worldwide. Many thanks to you for your support.

Sincerely,

Patrick M. Kochanek, MD, FCCM
Editor, Pediatric Critical Care Medicine

NEWS FROM EUROPE

ESPNIC 2011 is dedicated to promoting and advancing the art and science of paediatric and neonatal intensive care. Major topics to be addressed include: heart surgery, pain control and sedation, monitoring and influencing the immune system, organ support/organ replacements, neonatal respiratory failure, quality and performance improvement, critical care pharmacology, resuscitation, and brain protection.

For more information on the congress we would like to kindly invite you visit our website at www.kenes.com/espnic.

On the 23rd of February 2011 some of us had the privilege of attending the doctorate ceremony of Jos Latour defending his PhD thesis of the EMPATHIC study. Congratulations to Jos and his family.

NEWS OF THE SEPSIS SURVEY

Sepsis Survey: Tips for participants

As we understand the WFPICCS Sepsis Survey is comprehensive, requiring input from multiple areas:

A pdf version of the survey is posted on the WFPICCS website to allow participants to review the questions and gather information prior to entering data into the electronic version.

To view the pdf version, please visit the WFPICCS website at http://www.wfpiccs.org/ and select the Research & Education tab. The surveys are posted here as previews. Survey data can be entered during multiple times. Select “Save and Return Later” and you will then receive a Validation Code. REMEMBER this code and you will be able Completing partially completed surveys.

If you have:

a) Validation code: Click the link below and select the “REOPENING” (Blue button at top right corner). Follow the instructions to re-open your survey.

b) No Validation code: Click link below to activate a new survey and continue to answer the questions where you previously left off. We will merge your data together as we understand the survey is long. Make sure you enter the required questions (name and email) identically in each survey you complete to enable data merging.
