

3rd International Multidisciplinary Paediatric & Neonatal Acute and Critical Care Research School

DATE:	26-27 October 2017,
VENUE:	Aula Salviati 1-3, Bambino Gesù Children's Hospital, Rome, Italy
PARTICIPANTS:	max 50
ENTRY REQUIREMENTS:	Master students, PhD students, Post Doc, Clinicians with research experience.

AIM

The 3rd IMPNACC research school has been designed to offer participants a total immersion in paediatric and neonatal acute and critical care research at the largest paediatric hospital and research center in Europe, located in the center of Rome, Italy. A ask the experts Dinner will take place at the end of day 1 and will enable participants to share questions directly with the experts in the paediatric and neonatal fields.

The two full days of the research school are structured to give room for:

- Building national and international research collaborations
- Creating networks of early career and senior researchers
- Providing high quality methods teaching opportunities.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Prof. Dr. Martha A.Q. CURLEY, RN, PhD, FAAN University of Pennsylvania, USA

Dr Martha A. Q. Curley is the Ellen and Robert Kapito Professor in Nursing Science at the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing. She also holds a joint appointment in Anesthesia and Critical Care Medicine at the University's Perelman School of Medicine and is a nurse scientist at Boston Children's Hospital. Her research, funded by NHLBI, NINR and NICHD, has specifically focused on nurse-implemented interventions. Over several decades, her studies have illuminated relationship-based care when partnering with parents-of-critically-ill children, supported parent presence during invasive procedures and resuscitation, and have informed the practice of caring for critically-ill paediatric patients with acute respiratory failure. Dr. Curley has also led the development and dissemination of core metrics in the field of paediatrics. Dr. Curley received her diploma in nursing from Springfield Hospital School of Nursing, her BS from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, her MSN in acute care paediatrics from Yale School of Nursing and her PhD from Boston College.

SCIENTIFIC COMMITTEE

Prof. Dr. Anne-Sylvie RAMELET, RN, PhD University of Lausanne, Lausanne, Switzerland

Dr. Anne-Sylvie Ramelet is Professor of Nursing Science and Director of the Institute of Higher Education and Research in Healthcare of the Faculty of Biology and Medicine at the University of Lausanne, Switzerland. She is also Co-President of the Nursing Directorate Research and Development Commission and Paediatric Nursing Research Consultant at the Teaching Hospital of the canton of Vaud-CHUV, Switzerland. Her research programme has focused on pain in non-verbal children in intensive care, and family support in paediatric and neonatal critical care as well as in general paediatrics, including chronically ill children. Anne-Sylvie Ramelet received her hospital-trained nursing diploma and intensive care certificate in Lausanne and her Bachelor of Nursing (Hon) and PhD in nursing sciences from the School of Nursing at Curtin University, Australia. Prior to her academic career, she worked as a registered nurse in neonatal, paediatric and adult intensive care for more than 15 years.

A/Prof. Dr. Lyvonne TUME, RN, PhD University of the West of England, Bristol, UK

Dr Lyvonne Tume is an associate Professor in children's nursing at the University of the West of England in Bristol and with a clinical post at the Royal Bristol Children's Hospital. She is also chair of the national Paediatric Intensive Care Society nursing study group and president-elect of the European Society of Paediatric and Neonatal Intensive Care, and vice chair of an NHS Research Ethics Committee. She is a clinical nurse on the PICU and her research programme is focused on optimization of nursing care quality and prevention of adverse events by predicting earlier deterioration. She is currently leading a randomized crossover trial of open vs closed endotracheal suction in post-operative high risk cardiac infants and involved in a large multicenter study of paediatric early warning systems and their implementation. She has worked in the specialty of critical care (both adult and paediatric) since 1991 both in Australia and in the UK.

Prof. Dr. Jos M. LATOUR, RN, PhD Plymouth University, Plymouth, UK

Dr Jos Latour is Professor in Clinical Nursing at Plymouth University in Plymouth, UK and at Curtin University, Perth, Australia. His clinical post is based at Derriford University Hospital in Plymouth and Musgrove Park Hospital in Taunton, Somerset. He is the Director of the Clinical Schools in both hospitals, which aims to enable research translation in clinical practice, to build research capacity, and to develop and value a research culture in clinical settings. The research lines of Jos Latour are related to consumer empowerment and involvement in health care as well as end-of-life care practices, paediatric sepsis, dementia and patient witnessed resuscitation. Besides research, he is actively involved in the promotion of evidence-based and evidence-informed care. His vision is to narrow the gap between research, education, and clinical practice.

Where we are located? Ospedale Pediatrico Bambino Gesù, Piazza S. Onofrio 4, 00165, Rome.

How to find us? We will be in Aula Salviati 1, 2, and 3 in the Salviati building.

Cost? The fee of 260 Euros - per participant includes: participation to the two-day programme, the "ask the experts" dinner on Thursday night and refreshments during all breaks.
